

Panel 3: New Security Challenges

Speaker: Dan Alamariu

Director of Comparative Analytics, Eurasia Group

Mr. Alamariu is a Director in Eurasia Group's Comparative Analytics practices. His work focuses on creating qualitative and quantitative methodologies to analyze emerging security threats for public and private sector clients. His work also deals with civil wars, insurgencies and multilateral economic policy. Prior to joining Eurasia Group, Dan was a vice president in the risk management division of the Bank of Tokyo-Mitsubishi UFJ, where he managed continuity/disaster planning in the Americas. Previously, he worked as a senior consultant in the strategy and operations practice of Deloitte Consulting, advising large financial institutions on risk management issues. He has also worked for Deloitte Research, JP Morgan Fixed Income, and the Federal Reserve Bank of New York. Dan holds a master's degree from Columbia University's School of International and Public Affairs and a bachelor's degree in international economics from Georgetown University's School of Foreign Service. He also studied at the London School of Economics.